TITLE: The Mechanism of Economic Growth in India.

TIME: 11:30 AM - 01:00 PM

DAY & DATE: Friday, 21st March, 2014.

PLACE: Seminar Room 2

Abstract:

Abstract:

The paper addresses a stylised fact of India's recent economic history, that the growth rate has almost continuously accelerated. A mechanism known in the growth theory is proposed as a suitable explanation and its plausibility is shown to be supported by econometric estimates. Finally, the explanation is applied to the most recent growth acceleration to place in perspective the respective roles of the policy reforms and internal dynamics of the economy.
